THE CALIFORNIA RIOT. BENNIS KEARNEY APPEARS ON

THE SCENE AS MEDIATOR.

A Surging Mob with Revenge in Their Heart and Blood in Their Eye--- And other Points.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 24.—Dennis Kearney, upon his arriaval from Vallejo, last night, addressed a crowd of twenty thousand people in Sandlots. The vindictive feeling which prevailed during the day had apparently in no wise diminished, and at a word from Kearney the whole body would have poured down town without hesitation to wreak vengeance on the De Youngs. Kearny realized the situation fully and addressed himself to the task of quieting the passions of his followers. He reminded them that in ten days the election would put the whole machine ry of the city government in their hands and that the proprietors of the Chronicle would unfailingly get their deserts. That at present any attempt at violence would be met by revolvers of the police and rifles and Gatling guns of the mili ary and that the game was not worth the shedding of blood of one honest man. He adjured them by their regard for their reputation throughout the country to do no violence, but disperse quietly to their homes. He announced that to-morrow afternoon he would meet them on Sandlots and that in the meantime he would inquire more fully into the state of affairs, and would then, he believed, be able to show them how to dispose of the matter with credit to themselves. Never was Kearney's boundless influence over his followers exhibited to better advantage. Although vast crowds were fairly howling for the blood of the De Youngs they yielded implicitly to his advice, and when he dismissed them they surged away in various directions, evidently prepared to follow his advice to the etter. Shortly after midnight last night half of the police force were relieved from duty, the remainder staying at the sta-tion, except about thirty, who were detailed to guard the Chronicle office and some other points. The military also disbanded, with the exception of a detail at each armory. The streets were quiet throughout the night, and the crowd went home, except two or three hundred men, who remained in front of the station. It was rumored at 2 a, m. that Mr. Kallach was sinking and would not perhaps live till morning.

Mr. H. De Young, in an interview with a reporter of Alta, California, last night, said an offensive statement in the ily history, which provoked Kallach to retaliation, came to them by telegraph from Boston at 1:30 in the morning, during the absence of both himself and his brother, and was published without their knowledge. Having made it however, they were determined to stand to it. He said furthermore Kallach might have known he could not go upon a public platform and traduce our mother and family without stern and bitter retribution. He knew he took his life in his hands when he spoke as he did. My brother simply acted as any man would have acted who had any spark of manhood about him. The morning papers comment severely upon the general course and management of the De Young's journal. Call-says the Chronicle has long had a pri-vate detective agency, which has filled pigeon holes of its office with material to be used to extort money or pull down men who would not be blackmailed. It has boasted of its ability to kill any man whom it did not like. No other community in America, probably, has been so disgraced and despoiled by a public journal as this.

The Alta Californian says the Chronicle has been assaulting the characters and reputations of men, women and girls in this city for years, and charges the responsibility therefor upon the public which has given such a paper patronage. It closes by saying the course of the Chronicle has been demoralizing, indecent and infamous.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 25 .- The leading clergymen of the city, in their sermon yesterday gave considerable prominence to the De Young Kallock affray, condeming assault on Kallock, as cruel and cowardly and citing it as evidences of social demoralization and a low state of civilization.

"Not at all," replied Mr. Taylor; "it is from res, 'a thing,' taurus, 'a bull'—a bully thing." The philologist subsided.

Why the Colored Brother Takes the Fever.

The unusual number of colored peo-ple who have been attacked during the present prevalence of the fever has been much commented upon, and the rea-son for it has been sought in vain. The problem has at last been satisfactorily solved, and Senator George Washing ton Augustus Fitz James Gill, the dignified colored janitor at the station house, is the person to whom the world is indebted. It came about in this wise. The Avalanche man has suspected for some time past that the Senator possessed this priceless contribution to medical science, but refrained from approaching him on the subject. His hesitation arose from the knowledge that the dignified official was offended because he had been made famous through the local columns of the Avalanche as the object of several infirm but well intended jokes. He therefore engaged a prominent officer of the police force to interview the Senator, which was done; and suspecting no evil, he deposed as follows: "You see the yaller fever is like a buggler, he travels mostly in solitary darkness, and gits his work in before the morning star assends the horrizone. Few white people is mo' conspikeus at night than culiud people, and for that reason he arrears of the adversary was formerly d'reckted against them which of course was the salvation of the culled race. This was previous to 1878. The history of that period is f milial to all. The white people unan monsty absented themselves, and left cultud serviturs in charge of there premises. The yaller fever cum perusin' around to see the climit. His former victums was away in the mountings, and at was away in the mountings, and at Bong Qua Springs. So of course he feathered on the servitus. Now," remarked the Senator, dropping into Natural history, "it's known to every intelligent man that the Allegatur after once tastin' the flesh of a culled pussun will allers neglect 20 white people to pussue' his fav'rite nigger. A CAROLINA OUTLAW.

BILL CHAMBERS, "PERSIMMON BHA," OF THE BLACK BHILS. A Terror to Emigrants and the Banchers-Fooling the Sheriffs and Fighting the Sloux.

an Francisco Golden Era. "Persimmon Bill," "Soldier-Killing Bill" and "Government William" are names which apply to William T. Chambers, the hero of this sketch. He is the most daring, handsome and dashing outlaw of the present age, and, if not killed within the last year, is still at large, a terror to the emigrant and a plague to the rancher. He was born in the little village of Murphysville. Cherokee county, in the mountains of North Carolina. At the breaking out of the rebellion he was 16 years of age, and he, with his two brothers, enlisted in the Thirty-Third North Carolina Regiment. He, however, soon deserted the Confederate army and joined Burbank's Union Kentucky Cavalry. but in a fight with a comrade about a woman, while at Bowling Green, he drew a pistol and shot him. He made his escape to Morgan's command, and was captured soon after while on a raid into Ohio and sent to Johnson's Island, where he remained till near the close of the war. Early in 1867 Chambers made his way to Cheyenne, where he became associated with a crowd of roughs, who, just prior to the completion of the Union Pacific to Cheyenne, made the Union Pacific to Cheyenne, made the region anything but a pleasant resort. Here some of his pals attempted to upset the Provisional Government which the law-abiding people had organized to protect themselves against thieves, murderers and blacklegs, and two of them were hung, while Bill was given one hour to get out of town. given one hour to get out of town. He went to Fort Carlin, where he succeed-ed in stealing a horse and made his es-cape to North Platte, where he was al-lowed only a short time to remain. Up to 1870 Bill had kept pretty sober, and had never murdered a man on the Plains for money or spite. About the close of that year, however, rum—the murderer's nerver—got his work in on Bill Chambers and fired his brain to deeds of blood and cruelty. While in a drunken frenzy at Sioux City, late in the fall of '70, he shot his horse on the street. He had then about $400 in money. The brother of the sheriff, who was acting as deputy, attempted to arrest him, when Bill shot him in the arm. He was arrested and ironed, but succeeded in breaking out of jail. two connecting his manacles, and making his way to the hotel he procured a pistol and started out for more drink and a row. After riding up and down the street a few times he returned to the hotel, where he was met by the Snerm, who ordered him to surrender. "All right," ordered him to surrender. "All right," said Bill, "unlock these bracelets The Sheriff, supposing that his unruly prisoner intended to go along without trouble, unlocked the broken hand-cuffs, when, quick as lightning, Bill reached around under his coat, drew a pistol and shot him down, and after smashing the office windows ran out, mounted the Indian's horse and was off like the wind. A reward of $1,000 was offered for his arrest, but up to a year ago he was not again apprehended.

About the middle of April, '76, made up our minds to get Bill if he was in the Hills, or near them. I had sent two or three men to Deadwood (our headquarters were then at Custer), and three to the Cheyenne River, near Red Canyon, for the purpose of finding out something definite about his where-abouts. Big John Burrows was Mar-shal, while yours truly had charge of the Rangers' Scouts, ten in number. Burrows and myself, after giving the boys their instructions and seeing them off, went over to old Mrs. McKelvey's restaurant to get a square meal, having been out nearly all day looking up inormation. Roger Williams, a young

Kentuckian, and a gentleman born, who had been out with us to Buffalo Gap a few days before, came in while Burrows and I were eating, and said:

"Jack, have you heard the latest?"

"No," said I, "what is it? Another messages?" massacre?"
"No," said he; "but Persimmon Bill stopped at Dick Brown's ranch not two hours ago, and after eating some pork and beans with Dick, handed him $10, and mounting his horse, said, Dick, old boy, my name's Persimmon Bill, and I'm coming to hear you play that old banjo when you open at Dead-wood.' He waved his hand and rode off at a walk. Dick says he took Gooddell's telescope rifle, leveled it at him through a loop hole and—weakened! He said he did not have the heart to shoot him, although it was a clean $2,000, dead or alive." Before Roger got through telling his story an old man came in with a bullwhip around his body and a soldier's blue overcoat on and called for beef-steak and coffee. We continued to talk over our plans for the capture of Persimmon Bill until supper was nearly over, when the old bull-driver, chipping in, remarked:

"Wal, boys, ye'll hev ter git up mouty arly if yer trap that are boy, Persimmon. Why, I seed him not mor'n a mon. Why, I seed nim not mor a half hour ago, an' I'll bet two beaver skins agin a coyotter he ain't a mile from this here spot." Of course we got out every spare horse in town and started out, scoured the woods and trails in every direction, and returned, after a fruitless search, about 9 p. m. You can imagine our surprise and mortification when Mrs. Mckelvey sent a note to our cabin, of which my diary has the following copy:

MR. C—, DEAR SIR: Persimmon Bill never injured a hair on your head, nor does he wish any harm to come to you, but if you press him too closely you never more will gaze on the spires of Omaha. I never committed a crime except when under the influence of that accursed drink, and as you never drank you know nothing about it. respect you and all men who reverence their mother, and had I followed the teachings of mine, I would have been an honored member of society to-day instead of a husband outlaw. Twice I have saved your life, and the lives of two of your comrades. I have looked upon your face while you slept, and although I knew you were hunting me like a wolf of the prarie I did not harm you. It may be your duty to hunt me, but be warned in time and prepare for a big fight with the Sioux. Wishing you all success, I am yours, etc.

This letter was written by the noto-rious Persimmon Bill, disguised as a buil-driver, and consequently he had heard every word that transpired re-garding our plans for his capture. It is needless to say that I recalled my men at onec, and truly we had enough to do after that to protect ourselves from the bleod-thirsty. Since then he has com-nitted a number of murders and robberies, which it would take too much space to detail.

These continued outrages were what prompted the Government to offer $1,-000 reward in addition to that offered ooo reward in addition to that offered in Sioux City. He is not repulsive in appearance. There is nothing about him in dress, conversation or passiognomy to indicate the frontier bully or desperado. He is now, if alive, about 34 or 35 years of age; about 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, well built, and weighs about 143 pounds. His hair is dark brown and eyes bright blue; small, wall shaned nose, thin lips, shaded by brown and eyes bright blue; small, well shaped tose, thin lips, shaded by a blonde mustache. His chin is generally covered by a short brown beard, which covers the lower portion of his face, The only features indicating his ferocious disposition are his very projecting eyebrows and thick heavy lower jaws. And such is "Persimmon Bill, the notorious Wolf of the Black Hills."

THE PRESS EXCURSION.

On the Way to Glen Alpine-Blackwell's Handsome Treatment -- Succession of Pleasant Events.

orrespondence of the News. GLEN ALPINE, Aug. 23 .- It is not the province nor the purpose of your cor-respondent to give a detailed account of the visit of the North Carolina Press Association to Glen Alpine Springs, but a running description of the most prominent features of his journey up to the date of writing. Leaving Raleigh on the afternoon of the 21st, we (your correspondent enjoying the honor of membership in this association) took the Western North Carolina cars, and bade a reluctant adieu to our friends in your city. It was not until we had proceeded some miles that it was discovered that one of our number was missing, and upon inquiry it was ascertained that the worthy editor of the Wilson Advance had been forgotten, and left in the hurry and confusion of boarding the train. As a matter of course expressions of regret for our brother's mistortune arose from us all with one accord, but as the mistake was powerless to be corrected, his effects which were left on the car were properly taken care of and expressed to him.

As we approached the thriving town of Durham our spirits were stirred and our hearts made glad with a delightful "concord of sweet sounds" proceeding from the instruments of the excellent Durnam band, Immediately on the arrival of the cars at this place we were greeted by W. T. Blackwell and invited to visit his house and partake of the hospitalities so bountifully spread. Speedily accepting the invitation we were conducted into an apartment and abundantly served with the choicest wines, ales, porters, lemonade, etc., various fruits, with excellent cigars by way of setting off the repast; nor was any smoking editor permitted to take his leave without first being presented with a pack of the gennine "Bull" and a pipe with which to dis pose of it. Various and manifold were the toasts proposed on this occasion, and at the warning bell of the cars a speedy adjournment of the convention was effected mid three rousing cheers for W. T. Blackwell & Co., succeeded by three equally vociferous for the Durham band. Pount me here to say that Captain stags, the young conductor in the special car, won the deserved attachment of the members of the press generally, for the urbanity of manner and courteousness and politeness which marked his conduct throughout. Time passed very pleasantly while listening to the witticisms of several of the excursionists—notably, Col. Deake of the Roan Mountain Republican, and Dr. Montiero, of the Courier, Manches ter, Va. The appearance of two worthy representatives of the gentler sex called forth all that innate chivalry for which the knights of the quill are noted, and contributed vastly to the entertainment of the occasion and the pleasure of all. At Greensboro, when most of us had left the car, some vile thief entered and feloniously abstracted therefrom proadeloth coat, the property of Mr Ennis, of Raleigh. A strict search fol lowed this discovery, but with unsatisfactory results. Reaching Salisbury we were again honored with a delightful serenade from the Salisbury band, and returned our thanks for the compliment through Mr. R. B. Creecy, of the Econ omist. Glen Alpine station was an nounced at 4:30 a. m., and we proceeded to take backs to the Glen Adpine Springs, which we reached at 8:30 a.m. were cordially received by the hospitable proprietors of the Springs and immediately invigorated by a hearty breakfast. Being thus refreshed, our ears again drank in harmonious sounds from the harp, flute and violin, after which State Senator Bynum, E. L. C. Ward, of the Murfreesboro Enquirer, Dr. Montiero, of the Courier, Manches ter, Va., Colonel Gregory and R. B. Creecy, of the Elizabeth City Economist responding to the calls of the assembly each made a short address, which was invariably received with applause. As we close this a party, consisting chiefly of members of the press, have gone for a few hours' trip to the moun

REMARKS OF BILL EARP.

THE STOMACH IS THE THING TO LOOK AFTER.

Some People who are Never Happy, and Some People Who Are--History of the Stuckups and Highgos. Atlanta Constitution.

everything is lovely and sereen. Ain't it astonishing how miserable a body can be one day and how happy the next? I reckon the weather affects the body and the body regulates the mind and the emotions. Mr. Shakspeare understood it when he remarked, "now good digestion wait on appetite and health on both." I used to think the heart of a man had a heap to do with his amiability and his love and his charity, but the doctors say say it don't, and I believe it. A man's heart may be so diseased that he is liable to drop dead any minet but he don't have any bad effect on his good nature, but when his stomach is out of order he is as cross and surely as a she bear. The stomach is the thing to look after if a man wants to be happy. Hence we read in the scriptures of mercy-bowels of compassion. The beggars of London know all about this for they stand round the tavern-keeper's door just after dinner when the folks are picking their teeth on the steps.

Sometimes I think it a pity that we can't be more uniform in our serenity be happy every day alike. Come weal come wo, come losses and crosses, and washin days, and grouny coffee, and too much soda in the biskit, and fodder spilin in the field, and croup among the children and chickens, and the sugar out, and money low, and two months till cotton is ready for market, and the devil loose generally. Nevertheless, notwithstanding a man ought to be amiable if he could and they say that he can. I've heard of such, like Solon and Seneka, and some of the santified in our day, but we can't do it at our house and our nabors can't either, thank the Lord.

But I was thinking that your folks in the gate city had a jolly good time most generally, for I see a heap of smilin faces when I go there, so I dropped in the other morning on an old friend and says I, "Hail, friend of humanity, hail! Hows your health and conscience? how are your bowels of mercy? hows the good wife and children? how auld aunt Zion? hows bisness? hows everything? I hope you are happy."

George brightened up, and says to me, "Thank you, Bill, thank you." I'm moderately so—that is, I'm about as happy as I was born to be. Some folks were not born to be happy, and all the good things of this life wouldn't make em so. Their happiness consists of being unhappy. I'm not as happy as some folks I know who can take lifes troubles as easy as a nigger used to take a rainy day when he had a master to support him. Ive seen some folks who were so sereen and amiable they never knew when they got reigion. But I aint one of that sort. It ook a power of grace to convert me. and I aint right sure I'm converted vet. but I'm happier than most people. Now there goes a man who might have been happy if he aint. He's been gittin rich too fast and in a questionable way, and folks don't like it. It aint one man in a thousand that's willin for a man to get rich who is no smarter and no better than his nabors. I know just how it is myself. At one time I was worth a hundred thousand dollars, and I thought every body was willing for me to make a million if I could, for I did not swell or strut, and was friendly with everybody, and I give liberally to the church and the Sunday school and helped a heap of poor folks and my family didn't put on airs and we didn't cut any of our poor acquaintances we was raised with. Well, I broke. I got in too hig a hurry and when the collapse came I soon found out most everyoody was glad of it. Human natur is powerful mean about a little thing like that. Nobody likes for common jolks to get ahead of em. Now they stand it from Toombs and Ben Hill and Joe Brown and such, but you see I'm just an average citizen and all the other average citizens catch me by the coat-tail and say, "You come buck here where you belong."

Just so when a man that I know is no smarter than me and was dug up or grubbed up like I was gits ahead and begins to put on airs and strut around like a peacock, why I begin to work on him and catch him by the coat-tail and tell what I knowed on him when he was as poor as gully dirt and his daddy was a carriage maker or a gun-smit oc a clock peddler or something. Good sakes you ought to see my wifes indig-nation when one of em puts on airs over her. Why she wont trade at Mrs. Toadys milliner store because when she goes there and wants a piece of ribbon and a new hat Mrs. Toady says sh "here is a beautiful peice—I sold 4 yards of it to Mrs. General Stuckup" or "you had better take this hat. I sold one very much like it so Mrs, Dr. High-go yesterday." Well you see the Stuckups and Highgos were nabors to us when we was all poor alike and now since they are rich and we are poor they hardly notice us-we don't b to their set-one of em bowed a stately bend to my wife the other day a Kee ly's about 15 feet distant, like there was a bloody chasm between em, and my wife she never noticed her, but turned to the clerk and asked what strange lady that was. Consound em! Thems the kind of folks I dispise, Wm. Arp, and theyl come to grief, shore. Some em are in trouble now.

But there goes a man that takes life easy. He don't care. He's way up yonder, clean above money. He belongs to the aristocracy of literature. I reckon he's got as little weakness for money as any man in the world outside of the sanctified. He makes a good living, and makes it easy—writing up the boys and the notables and the big things that happen évery now and then. Sometimes he feels folk's vanity and pride a little, but it don't do any harm and makes 'em happy for a little while and pleases the children-so its all and pleases the children—so its all right. He never says anything bad about anybody, and has got more charity for the unfortunate than a Methodist preacher. When he used to get ten or twenty dollars he took it home and divided it out, and now when he gets fifty or a hundred its all the same. He deals it around the family same. He deals it around the family in five dollar bills just like he was a dealing from a deck of cards. He takes life just like it was a frolic, and he wouldn't swap places with a king. He's smart—devilish smart. "And there goes my old friend, the doctor. He's a happy man from prin-

he come. I'm told that his rule of life is to make somebody happy every day, and if he can't do it one way he will do it another. He says that is the true secret of being happy yourself. Well, the doctor is a good man, and I love him. I wish you could see him asleep on the lounge in his office. Why, sir, I is big, rough face looks just like he he come. I'm told that his rule of life had gone to heaven. There's a wonderful difference in sleeping faces. Most of them have a tired or anxious expression. Some of them look devilish —very few look peaceful or happy. It takes constant peace of mind to give a peaceful sleep, and that's the reason why infants look so angelic in their Judge Settle is in town. He has recently returned from the north, where, he says, everything is on the move, and indicates business with a vim. He thinks the outlook for the future good; thinks Grant and Tilden will be the nominees for President; considers it improbable that a southern man will be chosen for Vice-President, although many Republicans north favor it. He is looking well.

There is very little discussion about politics and it is a very difficult matter to ascertain what are the real wishes of Crops are much better than was expected and farmers are once more cheerful and happy. Last Thursday evening while an old colored man was sitting quietly in his house and peacefully meditating on the fury of the thunderstorm outside, a flash of lightning struck his chimney and something like a dynamite exploration was heard and when the old-man sion was heard and when the old-man recovered frem the shock he found that the seat of his trousers and one shoe was litterally torn to pieces while he was scarcely stunned. This incident is vouched for by highly respectable men and is undoubtedly true. LENOIR.

President Sibley and General Manager Foreacre, of the Air-Line Railroad; President Buford, of the Richmond & Danville; President Palmer and Superintendent Kline, of the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad, and President Myers and Superintendent Gormley, of the Atlantic, Tennessee & Ohio, held a conference here yesterday in reference to a union depot for Charlotte. The determination to build the depot has been settled for some time, but has been settled for some time, but there seems to be some difficulty about the details. One of the railroad men said yesterday, however, that all the points of any importance have been agreed upon, and that he had no doubt that the final arrangements would be made very shortly. The depot, as is generally known, is to be located at the west Trade street crossing. The diffiwest Trade street crossing. The difficulty that had to be overcome was in getting the right to run tracks to this point. This has been done. Nothing now remains but to have the work done. MR, TILDEN'S MILLION,

HIS REPRESENTATIVE TALKS WITH A REPORTER ABOUT IT.

Mr. Field's Charges extended to the Other Directors-How the Stock Jumped and Settled Down.

New York World, August 24th. Mr. Tilden stated in an interview with The World reporter, published yesterday, that one of his reasons for selling part of his stock in the New York Elevated Railroad, at the risk, as it turned out, of incurring the displeasure of Mr. Cyrus W. Field. was that Mr. Charles J. Canda, whom he nominated, was not made a director in the Manhattan Company. A reporter called on Mr. Canda at his office, No. 52

William street, and asked him to say what he knew about the controversy. "I have nothing to say in the matter," said he, "and do not want to be interviewed. Mr. Dows evidently understands how to manage reporters, and I am going to follow his example." The reporter suggested that there might be one or two points Mr. Canda would we willing to speak on asked, 'Why did Mr. Tilden wish to have you a member of the Board of Directors?"

"I don't know," said Mr. Canda serenely; "I never asked him." "Do you suppose it was because there was a personal understanding with you and that you would look after his interests?"

"Certainly not. Mr. Tilden has known me for years and as a member of the Rapid-Transit Commission ever "Well, why does he make your non-appointment a reason for selling his stock after his alleged promise to Mr. Field to hold on to it?"

"How can I say? I suppose Mr. Tilden thinks I am a shrewd, careful man—and I am careful—and wanted ne as a conservative member in the interests of the company."
"When Mr. Tilden sold his stock did it injure the company?"

"No one complained except Mr.
Field. Atl the other directors unloaded more or less; I sold about two-thirds of the stock I held. These sales evidently annoyed Mr. Field, for although he went to Europe on other business, it was his intention too to sell a 'big block' of shares on the other

"Mr. Tilden says that he sent you down to Mr. Fisk, Chairman of the Finance Committee, saying that unless you were appointed he would sell his

'Mr. Tilden did send me down and l noticed not only Mr. Fisk but all the directors who were in the city. Mr. Field would have been notified if he had been here, but he was carrying a big block' with him to Europe."
"Why didn't the directors take notice of Mr. Tilden's message and place you on the board?" "I cannot tell; all I know is that I am not a director in the Manhattan Company, and that the company will increase the number of directors next December, and that I am not among the list of gentlemen chosen."

"Had Mr. Tilden a right to sell his shares without consulting Mr. Field?" shares without consulting Mr. Field?"

"To be sure he had—a right to do just what he liked with his own property.
Mr. Field is making a great deal of trouble out of nothing. The fact of the matter is, he is vexed because the Governor sold his stock before he had a chance to get rid of his. Another thing that annoyed Mr. Field was that the stock of the New York Elevated Company is getting distributed all Company is getting distributed all over, whereas the Metropotitan Company keeps theirs together, so that now they can do as they like in the Manhattan Company. Mr. Field does not like this, because it takes away his power and importance. He feels

What does Mr. Tilden mean when he speaks of "financial phyretechnics?"

"Mr. Tilden is well up in railroad matters, and when the directors wanted to build elavated roads all over crea-tion he fought against it. I suppose when he saw the bent of the members he decided to reduce his interest in the road, knowing well that if they build roads in thinly populated districts the cost of construction and the running expenses will eat up the profits of the ines through well-populated districts."
"Did Mr. Tilden make $1,000,000 by the sale as Mr. Field alleges?"
"Mr. Tilden did not consult me in the matter at all, and I cannot say what he made; but when he sold prices were running high?" "How much do you suppose he "He did not tell me anything about "Do you think Mr. Tilden is avoiding Mr. Field on account of that transaction?"

"Mr. Tilden has no occasion to avoid Mr. Field, and I think there is a good deal of conceit in the assertion that he has done so. Mr. Field has not acted with his usual discretion in this matter and has allowed himself to go into print without fully considering the consequences. He has acted very stupidly in attacking Mr. Tilden alone when the other directors have all done just what Mr. Tilden cid."

What are your relations with Mr. "They have always been friendly, but when Mr. Field returned from Europe he was annoyed because I would not be a party to a suit against the Governor for having, as Mr. Field says, broken faith."
"Then you think Mr. Field has been ust kicking out?" "Yes, and this time he has gone some distance out of his way to kick."

Where and how Mr. Tilden disposed of his elevated railroad stock is the current conundrum in Wall street. The sales of last May and June ran at various figures, at one time touching 198 and then dropping down to 160, and it is very positively stated that Mr. Tilden got an average of 172 for all he sold. The departure of Mr. Field for Europe was followed by a sudden and marked rise in the quotations of the New York Elevated Railroad stock. The making of the leases and the ru-mors of the leases between the two companies for a time influenced the

"Pshaw," said Czardine, as he seated himself in the Times sanctum, "the snake stories that are going about are all too thin. Why, just look here. Last spring I went out into the woods. I took hold of the handle, and as I gave it a shove something bagun tigation showed that by mistake six ounces of tarta emetic instead of citric acid had been put into some water to make a substitute for lemonade. THE steamer Great Eastern, which has long been lying at Milford Haven, England, is to be fitted up with new boilers and machinery at a cost of £100, 000, as a cattle ship. It is estimated that she will carry 2200 head of cattle and 36,000 sheep. She is to trade between London and ports in Texas.

Few persons are aware that the tide of Chinese immigration is so sluggish as to be almost inperceptible, even under the magnifying lens of Citizen Kearney. During the last month the number of arrivals at San Francisco by sea was 1,054; and the departures 1,015. This is proof positive that if the Chinese come they also go.

OUR Winston correspondent has had a conversation with Judge Settle who has just returned from the North and is stopping in Winston awhile. He says the Judge is of the opinion that Tilden and Grant will be the next Presidential candidates. Should this be the case it will be some satisfaction' to the Judge that he has named the next President, and his name will be Samuel J. Tilden.

THE ill-fated Northern Pacific Railroad is gradually emerging from the disasters which overwhelmed it in 1873, and is being pushed forward into the Northwest this season at the rate of a mile a day. Villages are springing up all along the road, and the sales of land along the line by the railroad and government amounted to 2,000,000 acres last year and will probably reach 3,000,000 this year. Glowing reports of the capacity of the country as a wheatgrowing section are made by recent visitors, and there seems to be a bright prospect for the railroad yet.

SOJOURNER TRUTH, says the Kingdom Freceman, has gone to Kansas to grow up with the country. According to the last count Sojourner is 103 years old. This plucky and venerable colored lady apparently came to this world to stay when she was born. She must have been born about the year to be born in. A great many persons, since distinguished, have been born, have lived and disappeared since then, but Sojourner still remains. She is growing a fresh ebony fleece on her head and, as the phrase goes, is renewing her youth. If she can only demonstrate the possibility of a person's living right along for several centuries. more or less, there will be a good dealof anxiety to get possession of her recipe for doing it.

THE government has at last hit upon a practical expedient for civilizing the Indians. It is the intention to take one hundred of the youths from the more savage tribes, the Sioux and Arrapahoes, and educate them in civilized arts at Carlisle Barracks, Pa. When they are sufficiently educated to have become familiar with the ethics of civilization they are to be returned to their tribes and their places are to be filled with one hundred more of the younger red generation. The theory upon which the government pursues this course is that those who are educated will have a direct influence in civilizing those to whom they will return and learn them the arts, sciences and agricultural pursuits.

THE Republicans in Ohio are having trouble with their negro supporters. The latter are demanding recognition and threatening to bolt unless they receive it. To satisfy the Cincinnati negroes a negro was nominated for Legislature in that city, but taken down a few days afterward because it was feared that he would injure the ticket. Another negro, who is a candidate for Representative in the Republican stronghold of Cleveland, has been requested to resign his present position, that of justice of the peace, if he wishes to run for Representative, and fears to do so, lest he might meet with the same fate as his Cincinnati brother. In Columbus the same question has broken out, the negroes demanding two places on the police because their vote enabled the Republicans to carry the city. These two positions were granted them, but the appointments produced such dissatisfaction in the white rank and file of the Republican party that they had to be reconsidered, and the two unfortunate negro policemen were dismissed the force.

Two years ago the whole country was on a grand strike. Business and trade were prostrated and the prospects of the United States never appeared gloomier. An unusual number of strikes have been announced during the past month, but the news is no longer regarded as gloomy, but as an evidence of returning prosperity. The strikes of 1877 were a contest of the laboring classes against a proposed reduction in wages, necessitated by the hard times then prevailing. The strikes of to-day are, for the most part, a demand of laborers for increased wages, a return to the prices paid a few years ago. Two of these strikes were announced last Friday-that of the weavers in Fall River and the dockmen in Chicago, both of whom demanded an increase of 55 per cent, in their wages. Judging by similar movements in the North these strikes will be successful. Even if they are not, they are evidence that the shrewd and sagacious workingmen of the North see the returning prosperity and are determined to secure some of the advantages of it.

SETTLERS are pouring into Kansas by car-loads, wagon-loads and horseloads every day. Horace Greeley once wrote from Leavenworth to the Tribune that Kansas would eventually become -assigning her precedence over all but New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. It is a fact that the wheat product of Kansas, from the report for the last year, just made, already exceeds that of Ohio, the number of bushels produced by Ohio in 1878 being 27,000,000 and the number for Kansas being 32,000,000. Ohio was also led in the matter of corn, and Kansas became the heaviest grain-producing State in the country. The value of farm products for last year was at the rate of $100 for every man, woman and child in the State. The immigrants at this time strike for Middle and Western Kansas, the advance line of settlements being 300 miles west of the Missouri river. What was a few years ago deemed unproductive soil is now paying, though the limestones arears are undoubtedly the most sought for. It will surprise many to learn that there recently arrived at Salina, Kansas, a large number of immigrants from the fertile valley of the Shenandoah, though the Salina people themselves were not at all surprised. Gov. St. John's efforts in behalf of the colored people have not, however, been crowned with success, and many of them are yet at Topeka waiting to be employed or for something to turn up.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal expands over a new era about to open to the cotton-growing interest, through two late inventions-one for picking, the other for ginning and spinning cotton-as it is brought in from the field. These will dispense with living pickers and ginners and balers, and with bagging and ties. The thread they produce-from a long fibre unimpaired by the sharp teeth of the gin saw, undried by sun exposure, unmacrated by pressing and compressing, and saturated with the vegetable oil from the seed-we are assured will be incomparably smoother and stronger than factory yarn, either English or American, and must supercede the latter. The increased facilities for gathering the crop furnished by the mechanical cottonpicker removes the grand obstacle to an indefinite increase. With the mechanical appliances, which the Courier-Journal is confident have been secured, "the Northern States," it says, "should they desire, may remove "the great bulk of the negro population "without serious prejudice to an in-"definite expansion of the cotton in-'dustry; and cotton shipped in the "form of thread will have double the "market of the value of the raw lint."

GEN. GRANT does not say that he would not accept the nomination for the Presidency, but in a conversation with the Viceroy of Tientsin, who expressed the hope that he would again be President, he said it was a place distasteful to him, a place of hardship and responsibilities, and should be filled by a younger man. The Sherman organs have seized upon this utterance as a positive declination to permit the use of his name, and are using it to advance the pretensions of their chief. The language will bear a different interpretation. Grant has no idea of nominating himself. His rule is to appear anxious to retire to private life and to have the nomination forced upon him while affecting to object to it. He could stop all the talk about a third term by a positive word, and that word he refuses to utter. Evidently the Sherman men are premature. The fact that they show so much anxiety to have it understood that Grant is out of the race is proof of his strength and their fear of him. At the proper time all the "old man's" friends may be expected to rally around his confalon, . The interview at Tientsin will not check the boom.

The friends of Secretary Sherman think that he will have at least four Southern States pledged to his support in the National Republican Convention next year. These States are Virginia, North and South Carolina and Alabama. They have strong hopes in Georgia, Tennessee and Arkansas.

Boyton's 25 Mile Swim. Washington Star, 23d.

The terms for the swimming match between Captain Matthew Webb, the English champion, and Captain Paul Boyton, representing the United States, which took place yesterday, where $1,000 a side and a purse of $1,000 added by James Gordon Bennett, Boyton to make 25 miles in his swimming armor pefore Webb could make 20 without apparatus of any kind, Harman Oelrichs, New York, was referee. The start was made at 3 a. m., off Easton's beach, amid the cheers of those assembled on the boats. The buoys around which the men swam in mile courses were placed as follows: First, near the west side of the beach, almost directly opposite the Chandler villa; second, nearly opposite the forty steps at the Narragansett avenue. Thus the swimming was in plain view of the great crowds assembled on the beach and along the cliffs. Captair. Webb wore bathing in the said a firm-fitting blue cap. Captain tights and a firm-fitting blue cap. Cap-tain Boyton was dressed in his familiar rubber suit. The swimmers kept at work steadily up to half-past 10 o'clock, when a catastrophe occurred which practically ended the race. Boyton had made ten miles and Webb eight and a quarter, when the latter was seized with violent cramps, rendering both legs powerless. He was taken from the water by his trainer and put on board the yacht Active, where he was properly cared for, and thence brought to the city. Captain Webb's trainer attributes the attack to the fact of his not being acclimated. When Webb succumbed the men had been in the water seven hours, and the strong breeze which had been blowing from the southwest made swimming against the wind both slow and difficult. At 6 o'clock Boyton had made nineteen miles, and was looking somewhat tired from the labor of the day. At 7 o'clock he had made his twentieth mile, and was feeling his way along slowly. He finished his race at 11:07 p. m., making

A Wonderful Occurrence.

Concord Register. Bent Barnhardt was in town Tuesday, just after the big rain, and told how a water spout devastated a piece of woodland for Mr. Nelson Sucher, in No. 5 township. Mr. Suther had a hill coverwith trees and undergrowth. by the foot of which meanders a meade w branch. The water spout came alone and just swept the hill clean as a peeled onion, not a vestage of a tree or shrub being left. As the water spout pass-ed the hill, it burst and did no further lamage. The ground had the appearance of having been swept over with a broom. This is an actual occurrence. Now will the men of science investigate that dry land water spout and pass us their theory?

Be wise and happy.

If you will stop all your extravagant and wrong notions in doctoring your-self and families with expensive doctors or humbug cure-alls, that do harm always, and use only nature's simple remedies for all your ailments—you will be wise, well and happy, and save great expense. The greatest remedy for this, the great, wise and good will tell you, is Hop Bitters—rely on it. See another column.

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations

The testimonials of permanent cures of skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime by the Cuticura Remedies, are more wonderful than any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

Cuticura Resolvent, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged. Cuticura, The Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growth which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors, speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

Salt Rheum for 30 Years
On the Head, Face, and Greater Parof the Body, Cured.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen, I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, conunencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good physicians, all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of Cuticura. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myseif entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The Cuticura Soap should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle, Astonishing Results from the use of Culicura.

Messis, Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poofhouse which is being cured by your Cuticura remedies. The county had employed all of our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the Cuticura and immediately began getting better. He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during this time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales come off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not think he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least.

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879 -The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, Esq., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a locality of the symptoms and such scription of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully, WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me.
The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she con-tinued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WAD-DILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News. For sale by Wm. Simpson, Pescud Lee & Co., and F. H. Heartt, Raleigh

We believe this is so, and that a better means of securing a beautiful complexion is to use some blood medicine like Rosadalis, the great Southern Remedy, which cleanses the blood and gives permanent beauty to the skin.

Writes: * * * I eheerfully state that I have tested the virtues and efficiency of Colden's Liebig Liquid Extract of Beef in my private practice in cases of general debility, weakness, depression, dyspepsia, loss of appetite and nervous afflictions, when medicine had proven more than useless. I have found it the best remedy I ever used in Chronic Alcoholism, when the stomach is always irritable and food required to nourish. Sold by all Leading Druggists.

Colden's Liebig's Liquid Extract of Beef is a most excellent preparation. It is har excellence. Superior to Cod Liver Oil or anything I have ever used in wasted or impaired constitutions, and extremely beneficial as a preventive of Malarial disease.
